Revision of Ordinance Governing Use of Signs and Posters Due for Controversial Hearing

Lean the rummage-sale poster against your store window, you're OK; paste it in the window with a tab of tape, you could be in violation of the law.

Borough Council has a new sign ordinance coming up. It is scheduled for public hearing Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall when Council holds its November meeting and Council member Murray Medvin, who introduced it, has warned it may be a "sleeper."

Actually, it serves chiefly to tidy up and legalize what shops have been doing for a long time. Any temporary signs attached to a store window or door --- like Master Charge, BankAmericard and the like, or posters--are limited to 15 percent of the area of the glass, and any one sign is limited to four square feet.

"Posters are what put stores in violation," remarks Borough engineer George Olexa.

"I took a walk from Harrison to Bayard Lane," Mr. Medvin says, "and I think 90 percent of the stores were in violation, including what we like to call our 'better' stores. There were "End of season clearance, football posters, rummage-sale ads."

"'So what?' people would say to me," he continues. "Well, I'm a lawyer and I like to see the law obeyed. Yes, it's minor, but I hate a situation where laws are overlooked. This one hasn't been obeyed and hasn't been enforced. When you have a situation like that, it's easy to slip into another situation--OK, let's not obey or enforce something else, you see?"

The sloppy sign situation was first drawn to Mr. Medvin's attention when he served on the Borough Zoning Board, he says. The Outgrown Shop apologized for the sign in Redding's Plumbing and Heating window. They hadn't realized they were putting the store in violation of the ordinance.

If you're trying to sell or rent office space or a house, you can put a sign in the window or in front of the property. As in the old ordinance, your sign can only be eight square feet and must be removed seven days after you've sold the property.

Also, if you're having a house remodeled and the contractors or landscape architects want to plant a sign on your lawn advertising their presence, they may do so. Under the old ordinance, they were allowed to erect signs only where new construction was in progress. This, too, was a part of the ordinance never enforced strictly, although contractors were sometimes told the signs were illegal and had to be removed.

The new ordinance also looks ahead to next year's primary and general election campaigns and allows more time for posters to be displayed. Under the old law, political posters could only be displayed for seven days. Under the proposed new law, the time limit is 60 days in any half-year period. This means primary elections are covered, too.

The United Fund and charitable organizations are covered under that part of the ordinance. But church rummage sales? Does a poster advertising a church rummage sale come under the charitable and religion heading?

Mr. Olexa suggests that the way to answer that question is to lean the poster against the cash register or an office desk. Hinkson's and Cox's store often display such posters facing inward, toward the store, or have them leaning on a counter.

Class reunions? These are "accessory signs," described as "class reunion signs or banners of a college or university" and may be displayed "not exceeding seven days a year."

Also, the new ordinance allows signs that are required by state or Federal regulation. For example, the new state law says that authorized service stations may check out your car if it has failed inspection. The new Borough ordinance will allow four square feet for this state sign only -- or others required by law whether they go along with a gas

Cawley Reelected Mayor, Sigmund, Escher Win; Hall Township Victor, Other Race Is Undecided

Robert W. Cawley
Republican Borough Mayor

Barbara B. Sigmund
Democratic Council Winner

Gustav E. Escher
Democratic Council Winner

A seat on Township Committee was still swaying in the balance election night – and with it the mayoralty of the Township – all because an election machine in District 12 apparently malfunctioned. It may be weeks before anybody knows who won.

One seat on Committee clearly belongs to Republican Josie Hall who out-distanced the other three runners to finish ahead with 2,419 votes. The clear loser was Barbara Lependorf with 2,171.

In between are Republican Tod Peyton and Democrat Abbot Low Moffat with a 92-vote spread betwen them. Mr. Peyton is high with 2,270; Mr. Moffat has 2,178. All totals include absentee and military ballots.

But does Mr. Moffat really have 2,178?

The machine in District 12 shows him with only one votte which is included in the 2,178 total. His running mate, Barbara Lependorf has 100 in that district; Mr. Petyon has 16 and Mrs. Hall, 31. It seems unlikely that only one vote was cast for Mr. Moffat.

So unlikely, in fact, that Elaine Schumann, who is Democratic captain for the Township, decided on Tuesday night to obtain a court order Wednesday morning impounding the machine. She also obtained affidavits from three District 12 voters -- the number required by law – swearing that they had voted for Mr. Moffat.

In addition, Princeton attorney Joyce Usiskin, who has worked in the state attorney general's office, and is Democratic Committeewoman in the Township's District Eight, made plans to be at the attorney general's desk first thing Wednesday morning.

"This isn't supposed to happen!" moaned Assistant Superintendent of Elections August Bruschini to Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini on election night. His boss, Superintendent of elections Anton Hollendonner, has been hospitalized since Thursday, the field representative sent to District 12 to check out the machine 15 minutes after the polls closed Tuesday, shrugged and said he could only look at the machine because under the law, he cannot touch it, and Mr. Bruschini could only repeat that nothing like this had ever happened

Mr. Nini declined to comment, as did Mrs. Schumann, on what might be done. It is possible that voters in District 12 may have to vote all over again.

If Mr. Peyton keeps his lead when all the figures have settled, Township Committee will have a Republican majority of 3-2. This means that Democratic Mayor Jay Bleiman would presumably step aside for the senior Republican on Committee, Elizabeth Hutter. She would become mayor after only a year on Committee, and would becom Princeton's first woman mayor.

"I am awed at the possibility," she said election night.

Borough. Meanwhile, in the Borough, Republican mayor Robert W. Cawley with 1,837 won easily over the Democratic contender, Jan Schneier, who tallied 1,218 and will once again find himself with a full Democratic house.

Both Democrats running for Council, incumbent Barbara Sigmund, and her running-mate Gus Escher, had easy victories with 1,835 and 1,473 to Republican John Bleimeier's 1,371 and Republican Richard Woodbridge's 1,322.

In both Borough and Township, voter turnout was healthy. Curiously, considering the mayoralty contest, the Borough percentage was lower – 52.5 than last year's 55 percent. There are 5,951 registered Borough voters of whom 3,126 voted.

The Township had a 57 percent turnout. There are 8,061 registered voters, and there were 4,633 voters on Tuesday.

Campaign strategists look closely at the student vote, particularly in the Borough. Republicans often despair at the student vote because, if it bothers to turn out for a local election it's classicly supposed to vote Democratic.

Yet in the Borough's District One, where most of the students are registered, Mayor Cawley received 150 votes to Mrs. Schneier's 102. Both Democratic Council candidates, however, won in the district, although not by sweeping margins. Mrs. Sigmund and Mr. Escher took 186 and 131 votes, respectively, to Mr. Bleimaier's 92 and Mrs. Woodbridge's 83.

In the Township's District Two, where the Lawrence Court graduate student aoartments are located, Mrs. Hall Mr. Peyton were high with 201 and 190, to Mr. Moffat's 171 and Mrs. Lependorf's 161.

Although the Senior Citizen Tax Abatement was, at press time, the only one of the six public questions headed for victory throughout the state, Borough and Township voters voted "yes" for all six. The narrowest squeak was the Transportation bond issue, which had 2,224 supporters in the Township only inches ahead of 2,116 who opposed it. In the Borough, the "yes" votes were 1,473 to 1,158 "no".

The most sweeping victory was for the Senior Citizen amendment, with 2,172 Borough voters supporting it, and only 536 against. In the Township, 3,496 voted in favor, and 937 were opposed.

At the county level, at press time, Borough resident Republican Harry Sayen was behind his Democratic opponent Arthur Sypek for the new post of county executive, but not by the 2-1 sweep forecast for Mr. Sypek. At press time, Mr. Sypek had 27,000 to Mr. Sayen's 19,000. Mr. Sayen carried both Princetons.

In other county contests, Democrats took the post of county clerk for William H. Falcey and the three Freeholder slots with John S. Watson, Joseph E. Tighue and Eugene V. Howard.

Karl Weidel and Walter E. Foran, Republicans, were re-elected to the General Assembly.

In neighboring communities also, voters filled places on municipal bodies. West Windsor returned two Republicans to its township committee, electing Jack Baer, with 1,206, to the three-year term and Ray Lockhart with 1,256 to the two-year position. Mr. Baer's opponent, Ted Peck, received 1,184. Mr. Lockhart's opponent, Ray Danko, received 1,133.

In Pennington, Democrat Edwin W. Tucker was elected mayor with 541 votes over Republican Arthur Schwartz, who received 412. Voters split their tickets in selecting members of Pennington's Borough Council. For the three-year term, Democrat Rosemary Wetherill with 500 and Republican Nancy Schluter with 464 were the winners. Opponents Democrat Peter Wade and Republican Paul Scheirer had 459 and 457 respectively. For the unexpired term on Council, Democrat Thomas M. O'Neill beat Republican Norman Friedley by a count of 488 to 431.

Hopewell Township voted Republican. The committeemen are Christopher Bannister with 2,834 and Caroline Woodward with 2,676. Opponent Democrat Jack Bradley received 1,573. No returns were available at press time on Hopewell Township's referendum on membership in the Hopewell Valley Joint Recreation Commission.

There was no race this year in Hopewell Borough.

station or not. This could apply to banks and simillar institutions.

What will the new ordinance, if it passes, mean to a supermarket like Davidson's, which has its own posters pasted in the window? Some years ago, when the present ordinance was modified to prohibit pasted notices, Davidson's was issued a summons and haled before municipal court.

The store contended that it fell under a "grandfather" designation because it was a use in effect before the ordinance was passed. No decision was ever reached.

"After this ordinance is passed, we may talk with Davidson's and suggest smaller signs," Mr. Medvin says. Spokesmen for the supermarket decline to comment and have not said whether they will be represented Tuesday at Council.

Signs can be mounted on cardboard and leaned against the glass, Mr. Medvin points out, or even hung by wires. Merchandise and labels, like price-tags, aren't considered signs when they are on display in a shop window.

How about the signbox on the corner of Witherspoo n and Nassau, often regarded by citizens as a worse eye-sore than many a shop-window?

"Well, it's a service facility," says Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney. "Used to be a tree there that people put signs on. The box saves trees – we lost three trees on Prospect that died from posters nailed to them. The Chamber of Commerce was going to build a new redwood box for that Witherspoon corner ...."

"We don't want to do anything not in the interests of the merchants," Mr. Medvin emphasizes. "We think this will help them, not hinder."

POLICE GET 8.5 PER CENT in Township Contract. The impasse in talks between Township police and Township Committee dissolved Monday night as both sides agreed on a two-year contract which will be retroactive to January 1 of this year.

Police will get a 1975 increase of 8.5 per cent and a 1976 increase of 7 per cent. Township police never asked for the $150 a year flat sum which was awarded last month to Borough police.

Before Committee's 8 p.m. meeting, plainclothed police marched in an orderly oval picket line outside Township Hall. The men later gathered inside with their placards ("11 months is too long to wait!" – referring to the fact that police have worked without a contract since January 1). They sat without comment during the business meeting.

Only their attorney, Howard Golden, spoke. He reminded Committee that police had filed an impasse petition with PERC (the Public Employee Relations Committee) asking PERC to step in as mediator, and he wanted to know what Committee's reply to PERC would be.

"We've already told them we'll decide tonight," replied Committee member William Sutphin, who is police commissioner.

Accepted In 10 Minutes. The regular meeting ended around 9:15 and Committee met in executive session until around 11, going over the ground once again. Police, waiting downstairs, took only ten minutes to say "Yes."

In the end, the decision was a split one for Committee. Mayor Jay Bleiman pointed out that there were differences: Commissioner Sutphin and Abbot Low Moffat felt Committee should go along the impasse road, the mayor said. Committee member Elizabeth Hutter was the swing vote, casting her lot with settlement.

"We were all distressed that we were unable to hold the line," the mayor said, "but the processes were against us."

He said taxpayers were "defeated in detail," using the military term to show that municipalities are not united and have therefore been picked off, one by one.

Police About Even. "You have to consider the settlements made in the Borough, in East and West Windsor and in Hamilton," the mayor continued. "When you do, you see that our police are JUST coming out even."

Committee settled Monday night, the mayor explained, because its members didn't see any benefit in prolonged unsettlement and were uneasy about bringing in outsiders like PERC. "Also, we were distressed at the possible effect on the police force itself," the mayor added.

About 25 patrolmen picketed, 18 from the Township (the total off-duty force) and about three each from the Borough and West Windsor. All three communities are members of Patrolmen's Benevolent Association Local 130.

Ptl. Robert Nielsen, head of Local 130, said that if a settlement hadn't been reached, the men were prepared to picket Township Hall all the following day, which was Election Day.

Allotment Increased. In addition to the direct salary increase, the Township won participation in a prescription drug program. Also, the uniform allotment for plainclothesmen has been increased from $200 to $225 a year.

The basic disagreement was over the 1976 salary increase. Committee wanted to hold that increase to 5 per cent; the 7 per cent was a compromise. Another factor in the length of negotiations, according to Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini, is that Committee couldn't find a drug company willing to consider a prescription program for fewer than 100 employees. Finally, negotiators turned up a company willing to take as few as 50. Since there are only about half that many on the Township police force, Committee must make up the 50 from other sources.

Committee hasn't yet decided what to do about other municipal employees. In the Borough, other employees had been given a 5 per cent raise, and when the police got the 8.5, their salaries were jumped 3.5 – retroactively, like the police – to make up the difference.

The mayor said that the Borough's decision to grant 8.5 per cent "caught us by surprise" but he declined to predict whether the Township will go the same route as the Borough with civilian employees.

In dollars, the Township's 8.5 settlement means $34,200 more than the 1974 salary figure. In 1975, the amount for police salaries is now $445,250. There are 25 men in the bargaining unit, plus the two lieutenants and the police chief.

Out with the picket line in front of Township Hall was Ben Levine, 93 Woodside Lane, who said he wanted everyone to know that he didn't care about increased taxes if it meant a raise for Township police. "I'm out here in support of these men," he declared.

"There is a whole array of arguments that would argue either way," the mayor concluded. "The majority view is that it's a fair settlement."

A Treat For All

Young and old got a Halloween treat Friday from the 40 students – male and female – in Barbara Silverstein's "Creative Cooking" class at Princeton High.

Students bought 40 little pumpkins, designed faces with crayon and cut them out in fanciful or traditional design. Then they visited the pediatrics ward of the Princeton Medical Center, where each small patient received a personal jack-o-lantern. After that, students went to the Princeton Nursing Home, where each elderly patient got a jack-o-lantern, too.

"Those older people's faces just lit up at the sight of the kids," Mrs. Silverstein said. "It was a revealing experience for these youngsters. Some of the patients hadn't celebrated Halloween for half a century!"

The scoopings were not used for Creative Cookery, Mrs. Silverstein reports. But the seeds, toasted and salted, made good homework.

will go to the Planning Board for comment which Committee hopes will be forthcoming by December 15.

Not many changes have been made because the point of such a budget is to give the Township what Committee member Abbot Low Moffat calls "a reliable fiscal planning tool." Much of the program is dedicated to bike paths and walks, with an estimated total cost between now and 1981, of $1,236,400. When local assessments and possible Green Acres funding are considered, the net Township cost is $710,307.

Mr. Moffat doesn't think the cost is out of line when compared to proposed library expansion ($842,000); acquisition and development of open space ($1,287,000); fire truck replacement ($236,000); flood control ($224,800) and road construction ($2,118,050).

He and other Committee members also emphasize that the budget is spread out over a five-year period.

Highlights:

• Rental of half the Valley Road building from the school board. Ten classrooms, the old library and its offices and the downstairs cafeteria (for use as a Community Center) are available. Rentals would be equal to maintenance costs.

The tax office has already moved to Valley Road and the engineer's office will move shortly. Committee recommends $40,000 during 1976 to re-work the space.

• Expansion of the public library. The Township proposes funding the $842,000 in 1976-78. Library trustees have architectural drawings for a third floor on the library and a children's room expanded by moving out the south wall.

• Flood studies of Van Horne Brook. This $35,000 would be spent next year, followed by completion, in 1977, of mapping the Harry's Brook drainage basin. The budget suggests $224,800 for flood studies.

A severe blow to flood planning came with discovery that the cost of a new Braeburn Drive culvert has jumped from $17,000 to $100,000 because of the sanitary sewer under the culvert.

• Replacement of the hook-and-ladder truck, purchase of a new field truck, replacement of two other trucks for the fire department. These purchases, $236,000 shared with the Borough, would be spread out through 1979.

• Extending Mountain Avenue from Bayard Lane to Route 206, closing Bayard Lane at Duffield Place. This has been in other capital budgets and has Planning Board approval. The $72,000 project should be ready, Mr. Moffat said, by the time the north side of Community Park has been developed--in 1976.

• A "Harrison Street Alley." This $36,000 lane would run behind houses on Harrison between Western Way and Hartley, providing access to the rear of properties, and opening the way for banning parking in front of the houses.

• Approaches to Stony Brook bridge. The county plans to build a new bridge in 1977 to replace the old and historic one, but the Township must construct the approaches. Estimated cost is $111,500, which includes land acquisition.

Committee made no comments on the budget Monday; its members had just received the document from the subcommittee in charge.

In other matters, Committee accepted a 90-name petition from high school minibike riders who want a place they can legally ride. Joe Jacobs, 30 Valley Road, said the woods were fine, but complaints about trespass had been received. The township has an ordinance prohibiting riding the minis in open space areas.

"It's a large order, hard to fill," commented Police Chief Fred Porter. Several patrolmen had signed the petition.

Committee introduced an ordinance prohibiting parking on Mercer Road around Battlefield Park from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. Complaints about noise and drinking have been received. Public hearing November 17.

Administrator Joseph R. Nini reported the Township has earned $21,470 so far this year investing funds. Last year at this time, the figure was $46,205. "Fewer dollars to invest, lower interest rates," Mr. Nini said glumly.

The Township saved $150 in disposal costs the first ten days the new re-cycling bins were in operation, reported Margaret Broadwater gleefully. Over a year, she calculated, that would be $540 saved.

Committee awarded to Elson T. Killam Associates, Inc., the $38,000 contract for flood delineation studies. Also, Committee accepted "with regret" the resignation from the Flood Control Committee of Dwight O. North. Mr. North, who received a five-minute statement of praise from Committee member Elizabeth Hutter, resigned in protest over Committee's approval of site plans for the Yedlin project. Committee also accepted the resignation of Charles Berry from the Planning Board.

TOWNHOUSES APPROVED

For Willow Street. As a rule, architects talk about when construction will begin; this time, they're talking about the date of de-struction. In the wake of unanimous Borough Zoning Board approval of variances, the 14 townhouses planned for Willow Street will begin to go up as soon as the old University Cleaners building on Moore has been knocked down. Probably in early spring.

Design Interface, the J. Robert Hillier affiliate, has already filed for site plan review and the necessary subdivision approval. There are seven lots on the site. Six will be combined, one left as Willow Street, and the six-lot package divided up again into 14 lots: one for each townhouse. The units are not condominiums, emphasizes Edward Wilson, of Design Interface. Buyers will purchase house and land on a fee simple basis, like any other piece of property.

Sewer approval from the state is still tentative, Mr. Wilson said this week. Application must be made to

With the exception of 4E hours towards the end of last week, temperatures in the last month have been ranging far above normal. Readings in the 70s have been common, and the total of degree days is far below last year's count--all helping to conserve body heat and fuel oil.

No sharp dip is in the immediate future, the Man says, although the warm winds sweeping up from the south may produce showers that will cool things off. Enjoy it while you can--Jack Frost is growing impatient to take over on a daily basis.

Police Have a Happy Halloween: Kids Have a Good Time--Quietly

"It was amazing ... the best year since I've been here."

"Probably the quietest two nights we've ever experienced with the exception of a few isolated cases of vandalism."

The speakers, Lt. Michael Lisi of Township police, first, and Borough Chief Michael Carnevale were in agreement that last week's mischief night was one of the quietest ever in Princeton.

Lt. Lisi, a 19-year veteran, reported that "a lot of kids were out but problem incidents were down to almost nothing – not even worth talking about." Last year, he recalled, was a bad year. He added that heavy police patrols were out.

"The kids out certainly seemed to be having a good time – which proves they can have a good time without causing a lot of damage," Lt. Lisi observed.

He said that he and Chief Porter visited the Princeton Shopping Center the following morning and they couldn't believe what they saw: no soaped windows. "Usually, owners have to scrape off tons of soap," he said.

Awning Slashed. Lt. John Bellow, in charge of the Borough patrols, reported that he did not see a single store front on Nassau Street that had been soaped. An exception was Cox's which had its awning slashed.

Chief Carnevale said that there were scattered incidents of egg-throwing at houses and cars – an unmarked patrol car was hit -- and of smashed pumpkins. There were no arrests in the Borough and one in the Township.

The latter occurred when Ptl. Mario Musso investigated reported egg-throwings in the area of Hartley Avenue. He stopped a car which was leaving the scene and asked the occupants to get out when he saw eggs inside the car.

One of the occupants, a 17-year old Township youth, allegedly tried to discard something as he left the car -- believed to be hashish after the police ran a check on it. The youth was charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

Why? What do we attribute this quiet mischief night to? asked Chief Carnevale.

It is because youngsters today are so sophisticated they no longer want to trick or treat? Or is it that police patrols were so intensified as to discourage vandalism?

Chief Carnevale said he didn't know. "Who knows?" he concluded. "Next year may be a whole new ballgame."

In other business at Thursday's executive session, the Zoning Board granted conditional use authorization to R. Peter Hodge, Inc., allowing continued use of the house at 32 Vandeventer as a four-apartment building, and allowing bulk variances for side yards. Mr. Hodge must meet fire regulations of state and Borough.

A warehouse is behind the house. The board decided the possible danger resulting from this mixed use of the property was "negligible," and would be further lessened by Mr. Hodge's restrictions on anyone using the warehouse. At present, it is storage for books for the Bryn Mawr book sale.

DRIVER AVOIDS DEER

But Hits Tree. John Gaylord, 17, 100 Braeburn Drive, swerved to avoid striking a deer while driving on Herrontown Road late Saturday night, but in so doing struck shrubs and a tree on the property of Jac Weller.

Mr. Gaylord received a laceration of his head. A passenger, John Peters, 17, sustained minor injuries.

STOLEN BATTERY FOUND

Stolen Car Recovered. When Township police responded to a 6:30 Friday morning call that a car was blocking a drive at 357 Franklin Avenue, their investigation revealed that it had been stolen earlier from a Westminster Choir College student. The car, its wiring slightly damaged when the thief tried to start it, was returned to its owner.

Police also noticed a battery lying on the sidewalk near the car. It had been reported stolen between midnight and 12:30 the same morning by Mark Herbert, 418 Franklin. Mr. Herbert told police his car had been parked in front of his house.

PATIENT CHARGED

With Threat by Knife. A patient of a psychiatrist at Princeton House was charged with assault with an offensive weapon last week after he allegedly threatened the doctor's secretary.

south on Mouth Lucas Road. According to police, Smith entered the office of Dr. Michael A. Tricarico early last week and made some threats against Mrs. Mildred Trotman, Dr. Tricarico's secretary. Police said that Smith, armed with a steak knife, did not actually touch Mrs. Trotman.

HEADMASTER NAMED

At The Hun School. Thomas W. Woodward, Jr., Assistant Headmaster of The Haverford School, has been named the new Headmaster of The Hun School. He will assume his new role July 1 upon the retirement of Dr. Paul R. Chesebro.

Mr. Woodward's appointment is the culmination of extensive work by a search committee, headed by Dr. Richard Challener, which considered more than 200 candidates during the past six months. Included on the search committee were trustees, faculty, parents and alumni of the school. Dr. Challener, a Hun Trustee, is Professor of History at Princeton University.

Dr. Chesebro has been Headmaster at Hun since 1951. "Twenty-five years," he commented, "is a good time to stop." In a letter to the Hun School faculty, Dr. Chesebro wrote that he had tried to serve The Hun School "with dedication and dignity."

As for future plans, Dr. Chesebro said that he didn't know at the moment what he planned to do. "There are so many things ... I intend to keep my options open."

Mr. Woodward said last week that Hun "is a school of great tradition. I hope to carry that on." One of the challenges he believes Hun, together with all private schools, will have to meet is that of enrollment.

"Private schools have to maintain quality and provide a good product. Those which don't will sink. I don't expect this to happen to Hun."

NEW HUN HEADMASTER: Thomas M. Woodward Jr., assistant headmaster of The Haverford School, will become the new headmaster of The Hun School on July 1 when Dr. Paul R. Chesebro retires. Story this page.

Hun Enrollment 500. In contrast to other private schools, Dr. Chesebro pointed out that Hun gained about 50 students last year, bringing its enrollment up to 500 which, he said, should be Hun's maximum.

Tuition for boarding students at Hun is $4400 a year.

Held Several Positions. In addition to serving as assistant headmaster at Haverford School for the past two years, Mr. Woodward has held several other positions at the school including College Counsellor, Director of Development, Registrar, and Director of Summer Session.

His teaching field is English. "I'm very fond of teaching and I hope to get back to it some day," he said, "but I have more important things to do first."

A native of Washington, D.C., the 45-year old Woodward attended Western High School in Washington and was graduated from Haverford College in 1952. He received his Master's degree in teaching from Harvard University the following year.

He taught and coached at The Belmont Hill School in Belmont, Mass. and served for two years in the Army in the office of the Assistant Chief of Staff for Intelligence before joining the Haverford School faculty. From 1961 to 1967 he was assistant headmaster and head of the English department at The Kew-Forest School in Forest Hills, New York.

Mr. Woodward and his wife, Barbara, will live in a new house to be built on the Hun campus. They have three children: Edith, a sophomore at William Smith College, Tom, III, a senior at Haverford School, and Emilie, a sixth-grader.

Mrs. Woodward, a graduate of Bryn Mawr, is presently college counsellor at the Agnes Irwin School in Rosemont, Pa.

FUND GETS BOOST

From Western Electric. Aided by a generous corporate contribution from Western Electric Company, Inc., the total raised as of last week in the 1975 United Fund-Red Cross Campaign of the Princeton Area swelled to just beyond the 50 percent mark.

Dr. Aleck Borman campaign chairman, commented that even though the campaign is proceeding at a good pace, it is not yet assured of victory and will not be until every last gift has been recorded. He said that leading the division totals are: Special Gifts, at 56 percent and chaired by Mrs. William Selden and Walker Stevenson; the Research and Industry Division at 56.7 percent and co-chaired by Paul Brown and REST A WHILE: A delightful aspect of the Lamplighter, a new Christian bookstore, is the "livingroom" with its comfortable pillows and wall murals from C.S. Lewis' books. In a typical low-key fashion, the staff encourages their customers to take a book off the shelves and read.

IT'S NEW To Us

LAMPLIGHTER OPENS

On Palmer Square. Two years ago Larry Arendas stopped Cyndy Neely in the supermarket, and asked what her "I'm a Jesus people" button meant. In the ensuing conversation they discovered that both shared a dream of operating a Christian bookstore.

Now with the opening of the Lamplighter on Palmer Square their dream has been realized. In addition to the Neelys and Arendas, there are two other families behind this store, and together they form the non-profit Living Word Corp. representing three faiths (Presbyterian, Episcopal and Roman Catholic), all of which believe in a Christian way of life.

Most influential in getting this store in operation was Christi Wilson of the Nassau Presbyterian Church, for he put them in touch with Jim Wilson (no relation) who is responsible for many Christian bookstores across the country.

The Living Word Corp. based the Lamplighter on the goals and philosophy of Wilson's stores; used his program in selecting books, somewhat modified for the Princeton community; and through his suggestion contacted Fred Miller to be manager.

Fred, a young man who gave up an electrical engineering job to manage this store, credits his parents-in-law with his spiritual growth. He views the store as a ministry, a means of helping people, and for him the best way to do this is to get them back to knowing the Creator the way he is.

However, nothing about this store is high pressure, in fact, the whole atmosphere could not be more welcoming. Generally, two people, Fred and a volunteer from the Living Word Corp. are on hand so if you want to talk about your experiences or problems one is usually available. They are also quick to offer you a free pamphlet or New Testament if they feel it would be helpful, and we even heard Fred offering to lend his personal copy of a book that was temporarily out of stock.

Browsing Encouraged. One of the nicest aspects of this store is the livingroom (see picture) a comfortable spot delightfully decorated with illustrations from C.S. Lewis' books. The Lamplighter's staff encourages people to browse, look at books and stay to read.

Fred said, "More and more people are feeling comfortable here. After one visit they no longer feel like a guest and they come to read. No one tells them not to bend the bindings or wrinkle the pages."

The Living Word Corp. chose the Palmer Square location in order to be near the University, where the interest in Christ has been steadily growing. However, as Fred says, "The Jesus movement is nothing new. Calvin, Billy Graham and others are all part of it. It is just new to this generation. Instead of drugs or optimizing sexual responses, they are realizing there is more to life and better ways of finding oneself."

Christ said, "I have come so you can have life and have it more abundantly." This means more than Sunday church, and this is what the Lamplighter Bookstore is all about. The books here deal with the everyday joys and hardships of being a Christian – the nitty gritty of life.

There are books about philosophy, fiction, social issues, religions and cults, doctrine and theology, marriage, family, youth and biographies.

Particularly interesting are books concerning christian intellectual evidences, which Fred says are for "people willing to think." Here someone such as Josh McDowell in "The Evidence That Demands a Verdict," uses an intellectual and historical approach to defend such subjects as the Bible, Jesus as God and the Resurrection.

Children's Section. The children's selection is excellent, ranging from comic books about Noah's Ark and a coloring book called "God's Wonderful Gifts from A to Z," to paperbacks from the Arch Company about the parables, including one about prayer called "God, I've Gotta Talk to You!" to "Wonderfully Made," a hardback dealing with a full spectrum of sex education.

---

Located at One Palmer Square (across from the Post Office). The Lamplighter Bookstore is open Monday through Thursday from 9:30 to 5:30, Fridays from 9:30 to 9, and Saturdays from 9:30 to 5.

INTRUDERS COLLARED

Inside Holder Hall. Two teenagers, whom police said had been drinking heavily, were apprehended in Holder Hall Monday by University students and held until proctors could arrive.

Both Ronald Vanderveer, 19, of Morganville, and a 16-year old Somerset juvenile, were charged with breaking and entering and larceny. Vanderveer was also charged with possession of a deadly weapon, a switchblade knife.

Police said the two had entered a room in Holder Hall and taken a bracelet and a gold high school ring valued at $80. Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm and Sgt. Thomas Michaud investigated.

Also arrested in connection with a campus theft was Conway McGowan, 30, of John Street, who has been charged with larceny.

McGowan was observed rifling file cabinets in an office in the Engineering Quadrangle last week where he allegedly stole $7 from a wallet in a pocketbook.

He was arrested Friday on Franklin Avenue by Det. Timothy Huizing and later released, pending his appearance Nov. 26 in Borough Court.

WHAT ARE THESE? Harbingers of winter ahead, although with the unusually mild days this week, it is hard to believe that Princeton had a few icicles last week. These were on the Benson Building at 33 Witherspoon Street, when early morning temperatures had dropped to 30.

2ND SUSPECT CHARGED In Armed Assault. The second of two suspects in connection with the attempted robbery and assault of October 17 of an out-of-town resident in a Tulane Street parking lot was arrested last week.

John Duncan, 27, of Race Street, picked up Friday by Detectives Timothy Huizing and Ronald Holliday, has been charged with attempted armed robbery and atrocious assault. Taken to Mercer County Jail in lieu of $20,000 bail, Duncan was scheduled to appear in Borough Court this Wednesday.

The intended victim was taken to Princeton Medical Center where he required sutures to close a knife would in the neck which was inflicted by one of the suspects.

Arrested in Dispensary. John V. Smith, 43, of Monmouth Junction, was arrested by police Monday after the Princeton Medical Center called to report that Smith was drunk and disorderly and interfering with doctors and nurses in the Center's dispensary.

He was released in $250 after being charged with being drunk and disorderly. Police said Smith was at the dispensary to receive treatment following a car accident.

2 APARTMENTS ROBBED

At Same Address. The occupants of two apartments at 134 Alexander Street were the victims of thefts last week.

Hyette Briscoe told police that when he returned to his apartment last Wednesday evening, he discovered $32 missing and a television set valued at $120. The same day, Glenn A. Rittmaster reported the theft of a color and a black and white television sets, toaster and multi-band radio from his apartment. His loss was $625.

Police said there were no signs of forced entry in either theft.

Taken last week from the Corner House, Witherspoon and Henry Avenue, was a tape recorder and about a dozen tapes with a combined value of $175. There was no forced entry.

A window was forced to remove a $110 citizens' band radio from a car parked last week in a lot at 216 Alexander Street. Police identified the owner as Howard Spencer of East Brunswick.

A cassette player ($125) and $18 were stolen last week from the office of the Princeton Orthopedic Group located in the Professional Building, 66 Mount Lucas Road.

Police report they believe entry was gained by prying a door. Ptl. John Clausen investigated.

New Jersey "A Hell of Place to Live" in 1776; Revolutionary Fighting Here Extremely Bitter

According to an expert on the American Revolution, "New Jersey was a hell of a place to live" 200 years ago.

"There was real guerrilla warfare in the Pine Barrens of southern New Jersey. The British could land at any time in northern New Jersey. People in the state didn't know what to expect in those days," explained Dr. Kemble Widmer, state geologist and researcher of the American Revolution.

Dr. Widmer, a resident of Princeton for more than 20 years, will give a lecture about the "American Revolution and Its Citizens" at 1:30 on Sunday, November 16, at the New Jersey State Museum auditorium, 225 West State Street, Trenton. Also speaking in this series of bicentennial lectures at the museum will be military weapons expert Harold Peterson, who will focus on "Weaponry in the American Revolution."

Dr. Widmer said, "New Jersey became a fairly safe place to live after the battle of Yorktown on October 18, 1781. But, before the war was over, more than 8,000 people — Tories and British sympathizers — left the state. The state confiscated most of the estates of those people, so they never came back.

"The rebels in southern New Jersey, in the Cape May area, were intent on watching and disrupting British traffic into Philadelphia, which at that time was the second largest city in the British empire, second only to London," Dr. Widmer said.

Dr. Widmer, a retired colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve, said that New Jersey experienced "guerrilla warfare very similar to that in Vietnam." "The communist doctrine in Vietnam was to take the intellectual leaders first. The American rebels were not quite as organized, although they did seek out Tory leaders," he said.

"And like in Vietnam, farmers were staked out on roads ... houses burned, men were hung or tarred and feathered. Revolutionary conflicts in New Jersey were much, much worse than in any other state," he said. "There were more than 850 military engagements in the state during the war years."

The bicentennial lectures are sponsored by the Friends of the New Jersey Museum, The Old Barracks Association, and the Trent House Association. The lecture is open to the public without charge.

SCHOOL PLANNING.... Selden to Speak. William Selden, chairman of the citizens group that did long-range planning for the schools in the early '70s, will speak at a colloquium on "Planning for the Future of the Princeton Regional Schools" next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Princeton High School cafeteria. The meeting is sponsored by the PTOs of the high school and the Middle School.

Respondents to Mr. Selden's remarks will be Suzanne Fremon, former president of the school board; Joseph P. Moore, Borough Council member and director of the New Jersey Education Reform Project, and Marvin Reid, director of public relations for the New Jersey Education Association.

PATRIOT HONORED On Nine-Cent Post Card. Philatelists and history buffs alike are expected to converge on the front lawn of the MacLean House on the University campus at 11 a.m. on Monday when ceremonies will mark the first day of issue of a new 9-cent post card honoring John Witherspoon, Patriot.

Participating in the brief ceremony will be Princeton postmaster Basil Ferrara, Professor Jeremiah Finch, chairman of the University's Bicentennial committee, and Francis X. Biglin, Postmaster General for the Eastern Region. The Rev. William H. Felmeth, vice president of Princeton Theological Seminary, will give the invocation and the benediction.

Following the ceremony, sales of the first day cards will be handled by Postal Service personnel at booths in the vicinity.

dence. For six years thereafter, he was an active and influential member of the Continental Congress and served on more than a hundred committees.

Witherspoon occupied MacLean House from his arrival in 1768 until some years later when he moved to "Tusculum," a country house he had built about a mile and a half out Witherspoon Street from Nassau Hall.

"AMERICA" FILMS SET

Thursdays in Rocky Hill. The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present Alistair Cooke's "America" film series on Thursday evenings at 8. Beginning this Thursday, the schedule for November is "Making a Revolution," followed next week by "Inventing a Nation," and the week after, November 20, by "Gone West".

All programs are free and open to the public. For further information, call 924-7073.

PAPER DRIVE SATURDAY

In Franklin Township. The Franklin Band Parents Association will conduct a paper drive on November 8 with curbside pick-up of newspaper in all sections of Franklin Township serviced by the Band Association earlier this year.

Bundled or brown-bagged newspapers; bundled magazines; and computer cards and printouts without the carbon paper may be left curbside in the pre-designated BPA areas or brought to the High School parking lot from 9-noon.

JUMP A HOAX..

Flares Fake Jet Rockets. To the boos of a crowd estimated at 2,000, a 20-year old entertainer twice tried and failed Monday night to ride his flare-equipped unicycle across a ramp resting on five Volkswagen Rabbits outside Murray-Dodge Hall on the University campus.

The cyclist, Penn Jillette, is a juggler with the Asparagus Valley Cultural Society that is planning a three-day stand at Theatre Intime this weekend. He planned to ride his unpowered unicycle across the ramp under the cover of darkness with highway flares substituting for the promised rocket jets that were to boost his jump, according to the Volkswagen dealer who loaned the cars.

On his first attempt, Jillette wobbled to the top of the take-off ramp and fell off. He then grabbed his cycle and ran across the makeshift mattress and plywood ramp on top of the cars. He dove off the far side as the flares ignited a stream of propane from a waiting canister, thus simulating an explosion of the unicycle.

While the crowd complained loudly of having been tricked, four members of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad picked up the motionless Jillette from the ground and loaded him onto their stretcher.

Mail with a Bang

Otto E. Rosner, 221 Moore Street, heard a loud bang Sunday evening around 8.

Investigating, he found his mailbox lying on the ground, smoking. Police described whatever explosive device had been used as "pretty powerful." Ptl. James Vandermark investigated.

WOMAN, DEER KILLED

In Hopewell Township Mishap. A woman driving south on Route 31 below the Pennington Circle was found dead Monday morning in her twisted foreign car which was smashed against a telephone pole. In her lap was a dead deer, a doe, which had run in front of her car.

The woman was identified as Elizabeth Lucas, 64, of 29 Steinway Avenue, Trenton. She was taken by the Pennington First Aid Squad to Mercer Medical Center, where she was pronounced dead on arrival at 9:45 a.m.

A witness told Hopewell police that the woman swerved into the northbound lane and swerved back to the right in a vain attempt to evade the animal. Instead, she struck the deer, which came smashing through her windshield. The car ran off the road to the right, hit a telephone pole and snapped it in two.

There were no indications that the car was travelling over the speed limit. Police said that in all probability, the deer was dead when it landed inside the car and on the driver's lap.

NEEDLEWORK RESUMES

At Historical Society. Mrs. Muriel Bishop, who has just returned from six weeks of lecturing and teaching needlework in Japan, will resume her classes at the Historical Society. She will give instruction in Crewel, Bargello, Pulled or White Work, and a variety of other stitches.

Classes will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays for eight weeks beginning the week of November 10. Allowances will be made for classes during the holidays. The eight weeks series costs $30 for members, $33 for non-members. For further details, please call the Historical Society, 921-6748.

FUND DRIVE BEGINS

At Recording for the Blind. Volunteers joined board members at the Princeton Unit of Recording for the Blind this week to send out materials in the annual campaign to raise funds to support the Unit's work in recording on tape textbooks needed by blind students throughout the country.

According to E. Hunter Ross, Chairman of the board of Princeton's Recording for the Blind, "Last year, 354 volunteers gave 19,854 hours of time to the Princeton Unit of Recording for the Blind, Inc. These workers were compensated only by the satisfaction of having aided young blind people to meet fellow students on more nearly equal terms. Contributors generously met the cost of such necessities as equipment, materials, and postage, and of salaries for a small and mainly part-time supervisory staff."

In its studios at 100 Stockton Street, Recording for the Blind records books free for blind students from elementary through graduate school levels. Contributions are tax deductible.

SEVENTEEN BORN

Ghost Story Sequel.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

About that buzz-saw (TOWN TOPICS, October 30) that the graduate students living on the top floor of Old Mr. Seeger's house at the corner of Prospect and Harrison used to hear: you don't suppose it was the woodpeckers drumming on the "sleeping porch" tin roof, do you?

Flickers used to buzz vigorously on that roof before 6 a.m., and I can imagine that a hard-working, long-sleeping graduate student might well believe he was being awakened at mid-night by such a sound, which was so insistant that a British guest we had thought it was the demanding ring of an urgent call on an American telephone. He prodded himself up to answer it, as no one else seemed to have awakened, and as he sleepily made his way toward the buzzing, he caught sight of a woodpecker's head vibrating forcefully in unison with the buzzing he had mistaken for the telephone.

Clearly the jig-saw noise cannot have been a squirrel, as suggested by some unbelieving townsperson, ignorant of ghosts. But do you suppose that it was really the ringing hammer of an enthusiastic Woodpecker? I used to live on the top floor, too, and the early morning noise penetrated that floor with a most resounding buzz!

Hoping you had a nice, ghost-free Halloween.

Unappreciated Dogs.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing as a resident of Princeton for more than 25 years. Recently I had occasion to notice on Nassau Street a tin hotdog cart, drawn by a passenger vehicle, parked and doing business under an umbrella.

I was surprised to see this sight since it is one that usually occurs only in New York City, Coney Island, New Brunswick, Trenton, Atlantic City and Newark. I know Princeton to be a leading community since before the Revolution with the highest standards. Therefore, I feel that this imposition on our community is degrading and unsightly to the town. If we allow this to occur, we will next have MacDonalds, checker cabs and other undesirable factors deteriorating what has been built and has maintained high standards of American life.

Thank you for the opportunity of allowing me to "sound-off" about something which, I am sure, is of concern to all of us.

Proceeds from Walk Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On behalf of the Princeton Crop Committee I would like to thank all that participated in the Princeton Crop Walk on Sunday, October 26. It was a great walk and it looks as if we will have walked and worked for over $7800. Several young people finished the walk by either jogging or running in about two hours. Over 169 adults and young people participated.

Of course, all of the work is not completed. We need money now! If you participated in the walk, we would appreciate your contacting your sponsors and collecting their pledges and bringing the money to the First National Bank on Nassau Street. Collect the money soon! Get the money in soon! The money is needed now.

The committee would like to express its deep appreciation to the Princeton Jaycees who both helped coordinate the walk and spent countless number of hours recruiting walkers, the Jr. Jaycees for their help, members of Interact Club for helping to man the checkpoints, and also providing several walkers as well as publicizing the walk in PLANNING ROUNDTABLE FOR MARKETING PROFESSIONALS: Mort Barish, right, President of Mort Barish Associates, Inc., host of First Quarterly Advertising and Marketing Roundtable, plans program with Roundtable guest speakers, (from left) Glenn Mohrman, vice-president, Opinion Research Corp; and O.C. Chaykowsky, vice-chairman, Princeton Applied Research. The Roundtable, designed for marketing, advertising, sales and management people, will be held December 2 at The Nassau Inn.

BUSINESS In Princeton

BARISH PLANS MEETING For Marketing Professionals. Professionals in marketing and advertising will have the opportunity to exchange ideas at The First Quarterly Advertising and Marketing Roundtable hosted by Mort Barish Associates of Princeton. Fifty professionals in the field of business communication are expected to attend the all-day event at The Nassau Inn on Tuesday, December 2.

"This is a way of getting heads together," Barish said. "Too often advertising and marketing people must work in a vacuum, but every problem they face probably has been solved by someone else. By meeting together with their peers in a free-wheeling rap session, marketing and advertising management will have the opportunity to share experiences, develop techniques and learn new ways of dealing with marketing situations."

While New York marketing people may choose from a variety of seminars and programs in their field, Barish noted that little, if anything, has been available for these professionals in the New Jersey area. "To our knowledge," he said, "this is the first Rap Session of its kind for New Jersey and Pennsylvania advertising and marketing people."

The full-day program will explore the areas of advertising, public relations and marketing from the viewpoint of the executives within a business firm who are responsible for these functions - managers of marketing, sales, advertising and public relations as well as general corporate management with these interests.

NAMED TO SALES POST

At Walter B. Howe. William L. Horr, Jr., 102 Nassau Street, has been named assistant sales manager at Walter B. Howe, Inc., in addition to his duties as Assistant Vice President. Mr. Horr's new function will be to supervise sales development in insurance for all branch offices of Walter B. Howe from Sea Girt to Flemington.

He is a graduate of Baldwin Wallace College where he majored in marketing.

TO HEAD NASSAU FUND

Adriance Named President. George J. Adriance was elected president and a director of the Nassau Fund to succeed Arthur P. Morgan, at a special meeting of the Board.

Mr. Adriance, a Princeton resident since 1957, is a former vice-president of the Princeton Bank and Trust, and since 1966 has been associated with Tucker, Anthony and R.L. Day, Inc. and its predecessor, Clark, Dodge & Co., in the Princeton office.

He is a past president of the Princeton United Fund, the Council of Community Services and the Princeton Kiwanis Club.

The Nassau Fund, a no-load mutual fund started in 1957 by Harland W. Hoisington, numbers many Princeton area residents among its shareholders.

SAVINGS BANK EXPANDS

Kendall Park Office to Open. The new Kendall Park office of the New Brunswick Savings Bank, located at 3534 Route 27, will hold its official grand opening celebration Saturday at 9 a.m.

Edwin W. Baier, president, said that a housewarming party will take place featuring free Eisenhower dollars for the first 1,000 adult visitors, balloons for children, and souvenir registered key chains for all. In addition, gifts will be given to all depositors who open a new savings or checking account or add to an existing savings account with $200 or more. The housewarming will continue until 3 p.m.

The Kendall Park office is the third New Brunswick Savings Bank location. Founded by a group of New Brunswick citizens in 1851, the bank has witnessed steady growth, particularly in the last 20 years. Assets now stand at more than $270 million.

As a mutual savings bank there are no stockholders, which means that after setting aside proper reserves, all of the bank's profits are distributed wholly to depositors in the form of dividends or interest on savings. Mr. Baier said that the bank functions for a singular purpose, "to render the best possible service to the people who own the bank...our depositors."

SALES UP AT PARC

Third Quarter Report. Princeton Applied Research Corporation reported a year-to-date sales increase for the first nine months of 1975 of 20.5 percent, from $6,490,100 to $7,823,700. The corresponding increase in net income was 39.1 percent, a gain in earnings per share from 46 cents to 64 cents.

PARC disclosed that agreement in principle has been reached for its acquisition by EG&G, Inc., a New York Stock Exchange listed company with 1974 income of $5,716,000 on sales of $162,949,000. (Story, TOWN TOPICS, Oct. 30.)

The firm has announced the appointment of Donald M. Munroe of Belle Mead as vice-president.

Prior to joining PARC in May, 1974, he held engineering and marketing positions in several companies including Bausch and Lomb, Block Engineering, Ithaco, and Ortec. Mr. Munroe is manager of PARC's Scientific Instrument Division, which produces instruments for the recovery of very weak electrical and optical signals from obscuring interference.

MANOLOG IS DESIGNER

Of New Anesthesia System. A new anesthesia system, the Foregger 710 Anesthesia Control Center, has been created and designed by Manolog, consultants in product planning, marketing communications and design, located in Research Park, Route 206.

The system was formally presented at the annual meeting of the American Socicty of Anesthesiologists at the Palmer House in Chicago. A prototype of the unit has been undergoing tests throughout the United States for the past three months. So far, reactions from anesthesiologists and anesthetists have been most favorable, commented Henry Leong, president and director of industrial design at Manolog.

Manolog, he said, engaged in steady research before starting the actual design of the Foregger 710. (It is manufactured by the Medical Products Division of Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. of Allentown, Pa.) "We interviewed a number of anesthetists throughout the country, uncovered the problems they were experiencing, and solved quite a number of them. I'm not saying this is the answer to all the ills of anesthesia but...."

Mr. Leong has had more than 20 years' experience in product development and design and creating concepts for patentable products. He has been in business for himself since 1960 with another partner and as the head of Manolog for the past five.

The basic concept at Manolog, he said, is "the marrying of many different disciplines". When the research staff at Manolog, representing design, engineering, marketing, funnel all the disciplines together as a unit, "we can void out some of the non-useful directions immediately. We get better solutions faster by our approach."

Special Services and Banquet Will Mark 95th Anniversary at 1st Baptist Church

The First Baptist Church of Princeton, John Street and Avalon Place, this week is celebrating its 95th anniversary with four special services and a banquet Saturday evening. The services will be varied and are planned to be "inspirational, informative, spiritually and socially rewarding."

The celebration began Wednesday evening with "First Baptist Night," a candle light and communion service. Thursday at 7:30, the Rev. Charles Brown of Somerset will be the speaker at a service in which the choir will sing.

Friday evening's program is entitled "Community Churches Night." The Rev. Leon Gipson, pastor of the Mount Pisgah AME Church, will give the message at the 7:30 service.

Featured at the 6:30 Banquet Saturday will be "The Goldman Singers" from the Camden-Philadelphia area. Anniversary greetings will be conveyed by the mayors and the police chiefs of the Borough and the Township, as well as by the Rotary Club and the WMCA.

The closing service for this celebration will be Sunday at 11, when the Rev. S. Howard Woodson, pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church in Trenton, will preach. The church extends an invitation to all friends to join in each of the services.

According to the Rev. Edward Smith, pastor, the church began as a prayer band meeting in the Jackson family's home at 11 Green Street in 1880. In 1885, it moved to its present site. Two or three renovations have been made to the church building in the intervening 90 years.

Dated "Royal Family" Rated Poor Selection for McCarter—Play Such as This "Can Be Exhumed But Is Beyond Reviving"

IN McCARTER CAST: "The Cavendishes:" Rosemary Harris as Julie, Eva Le Gallienne aa Fanny and George Grizzard as Tony in the McCarter Theatre Company production of "The Royal Family."

(Cliff Moore Photo)

Stars fell on Princeton Thursday night with the opening at McCarter Theatre of "The Royal Family," a 1927 Broadway hit by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber dealing with the personal and professional carryings on of a three-generation New York theater family reminiscent of the famous Barrymores of the period.

The atars are Eva LeGallienne aa Fanny Cavendish, apunky grandmother of the tribe, determined to tour the hinterland in one more starring role despite her failing heart; Rosemary Harris as her lovely daughter Julie, now at the peak of her Broadway stardom; George Grizzard as Tony, Julie's handsome, daahing, womanizing, ailly-ass brother who haa sold out to Hollywood but is reluctaat to deliver the goods; and Sam Levene as the bittersweet, Sam-Levene-type manager of the hard-to-manage but highly profitable Cavendish clan.

Despite some first-night insecurities, these stars shine brightly in their rather stereotypical and superficial roles. They are strongly supported by a large cast of lesser known but very attractive actors including Mary Layne as the youngest Cavendish, Fanny's 18-year-old granddaughter, torn between an acting career and marriage to a stockbroker played by Forrest Buckman with a profile right out of an Arrow Collar ad of the '20s; Joseph Maher as Fanny's insufficiently talented but doggedly determined actor brother; Mary Louise Wilson as that brother's ambitious, yammering wife; Rosetta LeNoire as the Cavendish's motherly housekeeper; John Remme as the long-suffering butler; and Donald Barton as the fat-headed tycoon for whom Julie nearly gives up her stage career until, in a flash of insight inexplicably delayed, she notices his cranial girth.

Whenever these actors are given genuine feelings to express they are extremely effective.

Vivacious Direction. Ellis Rabb (cordially remembered by Princeton audiences for his APA's year at McCarter in the 1960s) has directed the play vivaciously and respectfully, resisting the obvious opportunity to make campy fun of its datedness. The setting by the distinguished Broadway designer Oliver Smith—an enormous, theatrical looking duplex apartment replete with flowing staircase and balcony— is perfect, as are the costumes by Ann Roth.

Indeed, everything about this production is highly professional and commendable— except the play itself, which was no great shakes in its prime and to which the years have not been kind. Lovers of bravura acting and lavish period settings and costumes may be happy to overlook the play's shortcomings and enjoy a pleasant nostalgia trip. But in theater partially supported by a university, one is encouraged to look for literary values as well as theatricality, and one is forced to wonder why this well-meaning but essentially commercial bit of star-bait has been recreated on so grand a scale to celebrate nothing less than America's 200th birthday.

Who actually chose "The Royal Family" for enshrinement is unclear from the program, which says "The McCarter Theatre Company-Michael Kahn, Producing Director- presents- The

AFTER THE THEATRE... Rosemary Harris, (right) who stars in McCarter's "The Royal Family," chats with Mrs. Keri Light after the opening night performance. The "After-theatre Supper" was given at Mecleen House on the Princeton University campus by the McCarter Theatre Associates and Producing Director Michael Kahn. The supper, attended by about 200 was planned by the Associates chairmen, Mrs. Thomas Paine, as an immediate follow-up to the Masked Ball fund-raiser last month.

Kennedy Center-Xerox Corporation- American Bicentennial Theatre" production "Produced for the Kennedy Center by Roger L. Stevens and Richmond Grinkley."

This linkup explains McCarter's ability to offer us, at bargain prices, sa glittering a clutch of expensive stars. But only a tin ear for dialogue can explain the choice of a playscript which, despite some touching moments and amusing show-biz allusions, is ultimately overwhelmed by mediacre talk, as if the Cavendishes, whose behavior suggests they are none too bright, had written most of their own lines. Some of the soap-operatic cliches are intentional, to show that stage people are apt to be superficial and childlike; but too many others are clearly meant to be taken seriously as the classy or heartfelt talk of glamorous people. ("No, Oscar, I'm through with it. Through with it forever." "What fools we've been!" "Oh, Gil!").

Choice Explained. Light is shed on the mental attitude that led to the choice of this play by some lines in the souvenir booklet handed out with programs at McCarter. As if it were a high compliment, the booklet's author, Douglas Scott, of Xerox, says of George Kaufman, "...his magic was total attention to audience effectiveness. No scene, no character, no line, however beloved, was sacred. All were subject to re-write or total eradication, should the laughs not come from the ticket buyers."

The fact is, dialogue that comes from the playwright's heart, and is absolutely sacred to him or her, is the heartbeat of good theater in any period. A play without it can be exhumed, but it is beyond reviving.

Because it deals with theater people and love of theater, and has quite serious pretensions in spite of its wisecracks and horseplay, "The Royal Family" invites comparison with "The Sea Gull." But if Chekhov's people are nearly as immature and phony as the Cavendishes, they speak with an originality and felicity that reveals something else, some sensitiveness and uniqueness in them that makes them and their play immortal. The Cavendish talk, even from the tongues of stars, is mostly commonplace, ranging from garden variety flowery to Algonquin-roundtable clever, guaranteeing mortality.

If in 200 years we have not produced a Chekhov, we have produced many works of dramatic art, including comedies, worthier than "The Royal Family" of being introduced by strains of "America the Beautiful."

"CORIOLANUS:" Shakespeare's tragedy will be played on campus this weekend (and the following two weekends), not against these convenient classic columns, but in the theatre of Princeton Inn College by the new Princeton Inn Shakespeare Players. Left to right are Jill Hurwitz as Virgilia, Duncan Brine as Coriolanus and Pat McEvoy, portraying a Roman citizen.

production moves on to the Kennedy Center in Washington for four weeks and then to the Academy of Music in Brooklyn.

ENTER CORIOLANUS

At Inn College. The new Princeton Inn Shakespeare Players will hang out their banner for the first time this weekend with a production of "Coriolanus." Opening night will be this Thursday at 8, and the play will be given again this Friday and Saturday and the next two weekends, all at 8 p.m. in Princeton Inn College Theatre, Alexander Street.

Doors will open at 7:45. Tickets — and information — are available at 452-6094 weekdays from 10 to 6.

Roderic March is directing what the Players call a "traditional interpretation, designed to revive the intimacy and entertainment impact of Shakespeare's theatre."

"'Coriolanus' has been often misdirected," the Players continue, "as a general tragedy of the noble against the common. This production will approach it rather as an internalized tragedy of one too-noble Roman, trying desperately to understand himself and his vacillating world."

The cast of 15 will be led by Duncan Brine, Bill Aronson and Jill Hurwitz.

"SECTION NINE"

Coming, at McCarter. "Wildly improper, uproariously funny and healthily irreverent"—— that's McCarter's billing for the theatre company's next play, "Section Nine," by Philip Magdalany.

It will open Thursday, November 20, and play through Sunday, November 30, Michael Kahn, producing director of McCarter, is directing.

In the cast of the new comedy, we have members of the CIA, a world-famous scientist with the secret of doomsday hidden on his person ("It's around here somewhere..."), and a female spy wired for sight and sound. Characters have names like General Enfield Muster, Vivien 532, Jasper 906, Ubell Untermeyer, and such.

Actors playing them have real names like Richard Dix, Conrad Fowkes, Barton Heyman, Elaine Kerr, Joe Jamrog, Jerry Lanning, William Larsen, Richard Lenz, Carol Morley and David Rounds.

"Section Nine" was originally produced by The Royal Shakespeare Company and was described by the London Times as an "Aristophanic romp which almost restores one's faith in the sentiments of the Declaration of Independence, not to mention the art of tattooing."

THOMAS IN FOR ALBEE

"Milkwood" by Players. Illness of a key player in the cast of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" has forced cancellation of the Edward Albee play by Princeton Community Players and substitution of Dylan Thomas' "Under Milk Wood," the contemporary classic for voices.

It will begin the season for the Players with performances this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in the theatre at 171 Broadmead, "Under Milk Wood" will be given again the following Friday, Saturday and Sunday and on Friday and Saturday, November 21 and 22.

A cast of seven will create the illusion of 63 different speakers. Margo Brown, who has worked with the La Mama troupe, the Playbox Theatre and the Universalist Church Theatre as well as with several community theatres, will make her Community Players debut in "under Milk Wood."

Pharmacy Footnotes

by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm

Too few of us realize that noise has a definite effect on personal efficiency. Noise is measured in terms of decibels. A decibel is a unit of measurement of sound similar to the foot-candle of light. It is the ratio of the sound measured to the smallest distinguishable sound. Noise surveys have shown that the average noise level for homes varies from 22 to 45 decibels and should not exceed 50 decibels. If your home is excessively noisy, take steps today to remove some of the extra sources of sound--your whole family will feel better.

"LES VIOLONS DU BAL"

At McCosh. "Movies at McCarter" becomes, temporarily, "Music at McCosh" for the two showings of "Les Violons du Bal" next Tuesday. Screenings have been planned for 7 and 9. Tickets are available at McCarter itself from 10 a.m. on Tuesday, or singles may be purchased at the door.

The 1974 French film-within-a-film is about the director's own experiences as a Jewish child during the Nazi occupation of France. Michel Drach, the director, has his own son playing the part of himself as a child; his wife, Marie-Josee Nat, plays his mother and actor Jean-Louis Trintignant portrays Drach as a film-maker.

Critics have compared "Les Violons du Bal" to Truffaut and Resnais, and have seen the film as a companion piece to Louis Malle's "Lacombe, Lucien." Mme. Nat won the 1974 Cannes Film Festival award for Best Actress for her work in this film.

CABARET RESUMES

Shows Next Three Fridays. The Inn Cabaret returns to the Prince William Room of the Nassau Inn for two shows this Friday, 8:30 and 10:30. Friday's performances and shows on November 14 and 21 will be the last of the Cabaret's Fall season.

Scheduled for this week is a medley from "Fiddler on the Roof," featuring Joan Lucas and Lou Gantwerk; a new comedy sketch by Nat Hartshorne; Diana Crane performing comedy material, including "Return of Albert," (about a boy who survives being eaten by a lion); and another edition of "Great Works of Literature Set to Music."

Other performers lined up for the coming shows are Roo Brown, Liz Filla, T. Harding Jones, Rita McDowell and Jim Hopkins. Don Boroson is musical director, and Dan Berkowitz will act as emcee.

Reservations may be made by phoning 924-6300 on Wednesday and Thursday, but are not necessary. Doors open one half hour before each show. Bar service is available throughout the shows.

WILDLIFE FILM COMING

On Canadian Rockies. The Trenton Naturalist Club will present the second in its series of Audubon Wildlife Films with a showing November 18 at 8 of a film on Canada's Mountain Wilderness at the Kirby Arts Center at Lawrenceville School. Edgar T. Jones, an expert naturalist and conservationist, will present the film which depicts the Rocky Mountain ranges of Western Alberta and British Columbia in full color.

Tickets at 50 cents and $1.50 are available at the door as are season tickets to the full series.

"ONCE IN A LIFETIME"

At Lawrenceville School. The Periwig Club of The Lawrenceville School will present its 152nd production on Friday and Saturday, at 8:30, in the Kirby Arts Center on the School's campus. Director Peter Candler is now rehearsing a cast of 66 characters in "Once in a Lifetime," the first and, in the opinion of many critics, the most hilarious of the collaborations by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart.

In addition to the Lawrenceville students in the male roles, the cast includes girls from Stuart Country Day, Hun, Princeton Day, and Ewing High schools. Tickets, for which there is no charge, may be reserved by phone at The Jigger Shop, Lawrenceville, 896-0620. Free parking is available at the Kirby Arts Center.

Lisztomania. Not a musical, not a comedy but a film of vulgar, outrageous excesses. Erotic, sacriligious, often hilarious, "Lisztomania" is directed by Ken Russell and stars Roger Daltry as the composer-pianist. The two also combined in the rock and roll film "Tommy," a film it parallels in style. Ringo Starr plays the Pope.

Anything goes in this irreverent biography, the more ribald or gory the better. In fact, the only thing that Orchestral accompaniment, which includes piano four-hands, percussion and strings, will be performed by the Collegium Musicum of Princeton, Joseph Kovacs, Permanent Conductor. The All Saints' Youth Choir has been prepared by its director, Nancy Freed, and the entire performance is under the direction of David Agler, Director of Music for All Saints' Church.

The program will feature selections by the Garden Statesmen chorus of the Princeton Chapter of The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America and by a quartet from the Hightstown Chapter of the Sweet Adelines. The program will consist of fife and drum music, ballads (including Greensleeves, The Riddle Song and the Drunken Sailor), pieces by early American composers, and a Handel trio sonata. A minuet will be danced by a gentleman and his lady. The instruments played include a classical guitar, Baroque recorders, a Baroque violin and an 18th century harpsichord.

The members of the consort are William Darst, Larry and Florence Kettelkamp and Donovan Klotzbeacher. Under the sponsorship of the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission, the Cranbury Consort has played a similar program in Princeton Regional Schools.

ARRAU AND BEETHOVEN

To Open McCarter Season. Claudio Arrau will open the Music-at-McCarter series this fall with a piano recital comprising the works of Beethoven, Ravel and Liszt. The concert will be given in the theatre Monday, November 24 at 8 p.m.

The Chilean-born pianist will open his program with two Beethoven Sonatas, the early Opus 2 Number 3 in C Major, and the next-to-the-last Sonata, the Opus 110 in A Major.

After intermission, he will play Ravel's "Gaspard de la Nuit" and two compositions by Liszt, the "Gnomenreigen" ("Dance of the Gnomes") and the "Mephisto" waltz.

Subsequent concerts in the series will present pianist Andre Watts and Murray Perahia, guitarist Christopher Parkening, flutist Jean-Pierre Rampal and two Guarneri Quartet appearances devoted entirely to the six Mozart String Quartets.

saves it from utter embarrassment is that Russell has no pretensions about what he is doing.

It's all a put on, a kettle of kitsch.

PRINCE

Charlotte. Another soft-core look at kinky sex among the decadent French upper class—aimed at duplicating "Emmanuelle's" success but unlikely to match the latter at the box office. Roger Vadim produced, wrote, directed and stars in this self-conscious, sordid tale of an intellectual writer investigating the bizarre murder of a teenage nymphomaniac.

Charlotte emerges as an unintentional parody of the pseudo-intellectual art film, made contemporary only by the extensive nudity and varied sexual simulations. Pretending to a sensuality it never attains, the film fails to back up its surface outrageousness with a single moment of genuine eroticism. A bummer.

VIRTUES OF REALISM

In Gallery Exhibit. Sculpture by Dorothea Greenbaum, accompanied by the drawings of Joseph Stella, form a body of work at the Gallery of Fine Art that is a testimony to the expressive possibilities of realism. Although both artists passed through developmental stages at a time when the direction of American art was away from the literal portrayal of the subject, the current collection embodies the classical virtues of realism coupled with a sensitivity that goes beyond the nature of subject matter.

The Greenbaum sculpture is mainly bronzes but does include work in other materials. Portraits, full figures and animal studies are usually life-sized, and demonstrate Ms. Greenbaum's ability to relate the many nuances of the subject to the viewer.

The Stella drawings are a change from his most familiar work. He was best known as a futurist: a painter who depicted movement, space and time as an expression of life rhythms. His best known work is a painting of the Brooklyn Bridge, which is a fragmented color experience that captures the essence of his subject. In contrast, the drawings on view are finely-wrought studies of faces and nature forms. They relate their subject in careful detail embodying a poetic realism. Intricate color studies as well as simpler sketches are included in the collection.

At University Art Museum. The Art Museum offers the viewer intense contrast through its two current exhibits. Work by the faculty of the visual arts program sings of the contemporary while a small but carefully chosen collection of 19th century drawings offers many classical and traditional styles.

Work by the faculty indicates a concern with contemporary modes of expression through strongly-hued geometric paintings on several surfaces, sculpture seeking relationships with its environment and pottery that regards its main function as a visual experience. Photography with a different perspective is included.

Nineteenth century drawings explore the art of a century in transition. Classically wrought, more formal works, and wash sketches of the earlier years of the century give way to stylistic changes of the later decades. On view are a vigorous Delacroix drawing, the more fragmented approach of a Pisarro sketch and the sentimental romanticiam of Victorian illustration, as well as many other stylistic expressions. Included are many media and a large variety of subject matter.

At Gallery 100. The use of landscape as a painter's subject has given rise to all manner of creation, beautiful and otherwise. Too often the artist uses the subject as a refuge from the creative experience by becoming a vehicle for depicting the landscape and ignoring its expressive possibilities.

Eileen Shahbender is to be commended for the amount of her own artistic sensibilities that she has included in the paintings in her current collection of moorland moods at Gallery 100. Staying close to her subject in basic structure, she has developed dynamic color passages and extracted the spatial excitement generated by her subject. The resulting body of work offers the pleasing aspect of landscape combined with creatively developed color and form.

At Grovers Mill Gallery. Trivellini directs his focus on color and materials in the current display. Paintings and collage are characterized by varying tonal relationships, technical effects and a range of structure that includes geometric construction as well as amorphous tonal areas.

This artist undertakes many different directions for his work with varying degrees of success. Larger painting s deal with surface as well as color and a textural approach adds an additional dimension. In the smaller pieces, the effects are often dominated by the nature of the medium so that the materisls and their application figure heavily in the impact.

At the Loft Gallery. Surrealist paintings by Tobias Musicant are accompanied by the wash landscapes and nature studies of Alice Musicant. Tobias has developed a structured and possibly contrived glossary of symbols for his work. Architectural landscapes of building blocks and other structural elements are juxtaposed with strawberries, apples and tropical birds. These technically competent paintings are brightly hued and tightly executed.

More fluid landscapes by Alice are worked in color

PHOTOGRAPHS ON VIEW

Of Alaskan Wilderness. America's last great wilderness is portrayed in a collection of color photography on Alaska opening in Squibb Gallery Sunday from 1-5. The exhibition, presented by E.R. Squibb and the National Park Foundation, will run through December 5.

Entitled "The Great Land," from the Aleut word for Alaska, the collection of 50 large color photographs depicts the variety and immensity of Alaska through its land, plantlife and wildlife. Alaskan culture will also be presented in a selection of Indian and Eskimo artifacts on loan from The Brooklyn Museum and The American Museum of Natural History, New York City.

Featured in the photographs are 11 areas in Alaska that have been recommended to Congress by the Department of Interior for national parks, reserves, monuments, and wild and scenic rivers. Some areas are accessible by road, others only by boat or bush plane. Spanning some 32 million acres, the areas include rolling hills, coastal fjords, massive ice fields and glacial systems, alpine peaks, and - surprisingly - golden sand dunes found above the Arctic Circle.

Hours are 9 to 4:30, Monday through Friday. "The Great Land" will also be open to the public Sunday, November 30, from 1-5. The Gallery is closed Saturdays.

She has taught drawing, figure drawing, painting, design, watercolor, and art foundations at Penn State, Ocean County Community College, Mercer Community College, and Trenton State College.

"CHRISTMAS CRAFT FAIR '75", an assemblage of professional craftspeople from at least 13 states will sell, exhibit, and demonstrate their craft works on one continuous acre of floor space in the Main Exhibit Hall of the Pennsylvania Farm Show Building, Harrisburg.

What is expected to be the largest all-professional indoor craft show in the Commonwealth is slated for November 20, 21, 22, 23. The general public will have the opportunity to see some of the techniques, tools, and pieces of equipment used in the crafting of various products. A central demonstration mall has been set aside for those craftspeople who will be demonstrating their craft.

The demonstrations you may expect to see are: scrimshaw: the art of engraving on ivory, begun by the whalers of colonial times; broommaking done with 19th century foot and hand operated apparatus; forging of sterling jewelry; woodcarving, wheel thrown pottery, and intricate woodburning.

Tradesfolk and Co. is determined to make this crafts fair one of the best that any of us has ever seen. Who or what is Tradesfolk and Co.? Tradesfolk is the business name that Fred Brown, Lewisburg, Pa. has used since his earliest involvement with crafts three years ago when he opened a retail craft shop known as Tradesfolk "makers of things". During the past three years, Fred has been involved in all facets of the craft world as a designer-craftsman, former retail craft shop owner and co-ordinator of two previous fairs in the Lewisburg, Pa. area.

Fred Brown and Michael J. Tindall serve as coordinators for Tradesfolk projects. Formerly of West Windsor, N.J., a graduate of Princeton High and student of Embry Riddle Aeronautical Univ. Fla., Michael has been a commercial pilot for five years, since his discharge from the Army as a helicopter pilot.

As coordinators for Christmas Craft Fair '75, Michael and Fred work full time arranging for everything from securing a fair site, developing an advertising campaign, seeking out quality craftsmen, tying together security, insurance, food concessions, entertainment, and public relations. This craft fair has been in the making for six months.

Mike and Fred are also developing a series of one and two-man art exhibits to be shown at the County Line Inn, Skillman, N.J., beginning December 11, 1975.

Basically, Tradesfolk and Co. is the vehicle by which collective energy is concentrated and directed at creating a situation that brings craftspeople and the public together for mutual benefit. Fred adds, "We only work on one or two projects a year; we are more concerned with the energetic and qualitative aspects of a show rather than the quantity of them."

The public will be getting the chance to attend a crafts fair that will display only high quality work. A jury has been selected to screen the work being exhibited for its overall design, functionalism, selection of materials, and technical execution.

The fair will prove to be an enjoyable alternative to the usual sort of Christmas shopping with upwards of 200 craftsmen. You will be sure to find a variety of interesting and unusual gifts. Take it all in. You'll be glad you did.

Here's an interesting football question for you...What player once won the Heisman Trophy as the best college football player in the nation even though–oddly enough–the team he played on LOST eight out of 10 games that season!...The answer is Paul Hornung who won the Heisman in 1956 while playing for Notre Dame...That season Notre Dame won only two games and lost eight–but Hornung was still voted the Heisman Trophy.

Did you know that only one man in history ever became the head coach of a National Football League team without ever playing high school or college football himself...The only man to do it is the current head coach of the Detroit Lions, Rich Forzano...Forzano was injured at age 14 and never played high school or college football.

Here's an oddity that shows something about how long George Blanda has played football...He opened this season once more with the Oakland Raiders–but what many people don't realize is that Blanda was playing in the National Football League in 1949--the same year that Joe Namath was entering the first grade!

Princeton's football team, bedevilled by knowledge that it is guilty of a great deal of error-laden play, will face its toughest assignment of the season Saturday at Cambridge. Harvard's well-balanced team, deep in capable personnel, is unbeaten in Ivy action and the current choice to win the league title outright for the first time in two decades of formal competition.

Having lost a skilled quarterback in left-handed Milt Holt, together with other standout seniors, there was some question at the outset of the season how strong a run the Crimson could make for first place. Right off, junior Jim Kubacki emerged to succeed Holt, welding sufficient other good newcomers and experienced veterans into an impressive team. Victory over Holy Cross in the opener was followed by an upset at the hands of Boston University, but since then Harvard has won from Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth and Penn without undue difficulty.

The Crimson's 21-3 victory over Penn may have been expensive. Kubacki left action in the third period with a severely bruised shoulder, and his appearance against Princeton is doubtful. If he cannot play, Harvard will turn to Tim Davenport or Mike Lynch, neither of whom has seen much action in his varsity career.

Princeton will go to Cambridge not only enmeshed in a string of three straight defeats but aware that its own mistakes have cost it victory in its last three games against Colgate, Pennsylvania and Brown. The depth of its troubles was reached in the first half against Brown Saturday, when one of the most miserable performances in recent years cost it sufficient points to make a strong second-half rally inadequate.

While a great many problems continue to plague the Orange and Black, its major weakness lies in the near-total inability of its offensive line to block. Not only is the running game virtually non-existent but the pass blocking is often porous. It was, in fact, a virtually unopposed rush on Ron Beible in the final quarter that caused a fumble which led to the Bruins' final touchdown in their 24-16 victory.

Visitors Take Quick Lead. Princeton's inability to achieve a first down until the opening quarter had less than a minute to go, combined with its inept pass defense, put Brown out in front by 14-0 in a hurry. The Bruins' first score came on an eight-yard pass with four minutes gone and they added another less than three minutes later when Ed Sheridan failed to knock down a deep aerial and split end Bob Farnham completed a 59-yard play to make it 14-0.

Late in the second quarter, Jose Violante booted a 42-yard field goal to make it 17-0. With Ron Beible being sacked six times, Princeton was debited at minus 25 in yards rushing, without doubt its worst such performance in its long football history.

A fumble recovery by linebacker Steve Lang, playing a fine game despite an ankle injury, put Princeton's first touchdown drive in motion soon after play resumed. Split end Dan Fournier made a spectacular over the shoulder catch in the end zone despite the ride-off tactics of the Brown defender. The play covered 21 yards.

Two plays into the final quarter, a 37-yard field goal by Scott Morrison (who had missed one from 22-yards out in the second period) narrowed the Tigers' deficit to 17-10. At 7:09, they scored again as split end Kevin Gropp, playing his first game after having broken his wrist in a pre-season scrimmage, caught a Beible pitch on the run in the end zone.

Time Outs Wasted. The try for a two-point conversion failed when linebacker Ames Ressa reached in front of tight end Todd Jacobson to bat down Beible's pass. The decision to go for two points was a good one, but the degree of confusion on the Princeton sidelines as to just what personnel should be used on the play cost an unnecessary time out — one of two that the Tigers squandered in this fashion in the second half of a tight ball game.

With half the period left, and momentum very much on Princeton's side, opportunity to score again was clearly within the Tigers' grasp – especially when Brown was thrown for a nine-yard loss on a third-and-one situation, forcing a punt from its own 26. Three plays later, the Tigers had the ball at midfield when the offensive line sprung its most disastrous leak of the afternoon.

Brown linemen poured in on Beible as he dropped back to pass. When his arm was hit, the ball popped into the air and was caught by end Mike Sherman.

QUICK LOOK AT HARVARD

OFFENSE: Fine balance has been achieved between running of Neal Miller, Jim Winn and Jim Kubacki and Kubacki's passing. Attack is best in Ivy League

DEFENSE: Has matured steadily. Appears wholly capable of joining others which have smothered Princeton running game

CHIEF ASSET: Steady flow of good material that matriculates at Harvard, fused by Joe Restic's intricate pro-type coaching

CHIEF PROBLEM: Crimson teams have had history of suffering at least one costly upset that has kept them from ever winning Ivy title outright. Solid offense may prevent such a loss this year.

TYPE OF ATTACK: Power I

After a few steps, Sherman lateralled to Scott Nelson, who made it to the 16 before Mike Carter brought him down. Four carries by halfback Kevin Slattery raised Brown's margin to 24-16, and gave Princeton just under four minutes to put eight points on the board for a last-ditch tie.

No Last-Minute Heroics. The Tigers couldn't make it, losing the ball once on an interception at the Brown 15, getting it back with 39 seconds left after a punt to their 23 but running out of time because they had no time outs left to stop the clock.

Beible's performance in front of a line that does not always give him adequate protection was often outstanding during the second-half rally. A part of his difficulty was being sacked when he took too long sorting out his receivers, but his statistics (20 of 39 for 249 yards and two touchdowns) were most impressive. He now leads the Ivy League in both total offense and forward passing.

So the Tigers have completed two thirds of their season, winning three and then losing three. Their problem lies in the fact that they have improved very little if at all in the last three weeks and the teams they have left to play are all markedly better than the three over which they hold victories.

While defensive lapses have been instrumental in the present string of setbacks, it is the total demise of the running game that bodes so ill for the immediate future. The deficit of 25 yards in the first half was eventually erased by a total of eight on the plus side, a figure that is in all likelihood second only to the minus 17 recorded at Ithaca two years ago.

With no running back able to move the ball, defensive linemen can key on Beible to an extent that will make his passing even more difficult. Lack of ability to sustain drives will put additional pressure on the inconsistent defense, the blend of bad news evoking a question as to whether the Tigers can win at least one of their last three and thereby avoid a 3-6 season. To fall back to such a record after last year's respectable 4-4-1 mark would be retrogression indeed.

HARVARD THE CHOICE

Even Without Kubacki. A steadily improving defense, and a number of capable ball carriers and receivers will keep Harvard in the favorite's role Saturday regardless of who its quarterback is. Kubacki has taken the Crimson to a fine 5-1 record, but Joe Restic's team is not a one-man show.

Halfbacks Tom Winn and Mark Taylor and fullback Neal Miller all have impressive averages running with the ball, while Bob McDermott and Jim Curry are unusually capable receivers. McDermott, in fact, is the Ivies' leading scorer with 30 points, a highly unusual showing for an end.

Balance is the key to Harvard's success. Its offense earns about two yards for every one it needs through the air, and its defense has given up two touchdowns or less to every opponent save Columbia.

Like virtually every other Ivy team, the Crimson has held the upper hand over Princeton in the current decade, although not by a margin of more than 3 to 2. The Tigers last won at Cambridge in four years ago, 21-10, and followed that with a 10-7 upset here in 1972. Last year's game in Palmer Stadium went to Harvard, 34 to 17.

U-STORE UPSET

Fuel Oil Is 27-0 Winner. Rug and Furniture Mart upset University Store, 14-7, and Princeton Fuel Oil defeated Nassau-Conover, 27-0, last week in games in the Princeton Midget Football League's senior division.

Furniture Mart scored on a six-yard pass from John Kellogg to Tom Scibetta in the second period and on a two-yard plunge by Clyde Pannell in the third. Key to the win was Scibetta's 76 yards rushing in eight carries. The defense was led by Bob Dennehy, Mark Miller and Mike Kennedy.

Archie Jenkins capped a sustained U-Store drive in the final period, going over from the two. Bryan Varvel had nine tackels to the lead defense. U-Store outrushed the victors, 143 to 110, Jenkins accounting for 89 yards in 15 carries.

Mark Breeland returned a punt 70 yards and Peter Sharpless a pass interception for 28 yards, both in the final period, as Princeton Fuel Oil broke open its game with Nassau-Conover. Larry McKellar and Mike Leahy also scored, both from the one yard line. Fuel Oil, which attempted only one pass, had 161 yards on the ground while limiting Nassau Conover to 21.

The Fuel Oil defense was led by Mike Thompson and Ned Thompson, while Frank Whitaker and Mike McCabe combined for 27 tackles for the losers.

WINNERS NAMED

In West Windsor Tennis. Winners in the three evening adult tennis leagues have been announced by the West Windsor Recreation Commission.

They are Marty Birnbaum, Tom O'Kane and John Perlitz, men's late league; Barbara Evans, Pat Fallon and Myra Hochman, women's league; and Tom Boyer, Tom Dennery and Vic Payne, men's early league.

Runners-up in the three leagues were Bob Murray, Jay Sexton and Stan Tantum; Jean Cassen, Barbara Churilla and Derreth Kavanagh; and Grant Beske, Steve Peck and Jack Skalinski.

PHS, 3-3 After Upset, Faces Steinert Saturday

Two thirds through its season, the Princeton High School football team is all even with three wins, three loses.

For three and one-half periods Saturday it seemed as certain as anything can be on a gridiron that the Little Tigers would go into next week's battle against Steinert with a 4-2 record. Instead, Saturday's contest with St. Anthony's here turned to dust as the visitors scored twice in the final period to edge the stunned and frustrated home team, 14-13.

A BIG PLAY FOR ST. ANTHONY'S: PHS defensive end Eric Ziolkowski hes a bear hug on St. Anthony quarterback Mark Slafkovsky as teammates Paul Soderman (44) and Tony Strong (41) rush over to give eld. Too late, however, as Slafkovsky has crossed the goal to bring his team within one point, 13-12. On the next play, Slafkovsky scored on a two-point conversion to give St. Anthony's a 14-13 victory.

Like PHS, Steinert will enter Saturday's game–it will be played at the Little Tiger field, starting at 11–the recent victim of an upset. After having been upset two weeks ago by St. Anthony's, the Spartans fell victim again to upset-minded Trenton, 6-0.

The loss was the second straight for Steinert, which saw its record fall to 3-3 and thus match Princeton's. Previous battles between the Spartans and Little Tigers have often been heated and PHS coach Jim Beachell said that it would be a tough game for his squad. Last year the Spartans prevailed, 13-0.

Strong Goes 75 Yards. Last week's contest with St. Anthony's had been a humdrum affair until, with 5:11 left in the half, Tony Strong suddenly broke one off tackle for 75 yards and Paul Soderman kicked the extra point to give PHS a 7-0 lead. Until then, neither team had threatened as St. Anthony quarterback Mark Slafkovsky had failed to connect on seven passes and his PHS counterpart, Tommy Thomas was two-for-five.

Princeton's defensive unit, spearheaded by John Hoover, Eric Ziolkowski, Dave Seagers, Anthony Cirullo, Craig Rendell, Phill Billington and Keith Wadsworth had effectively contained the Iron Mike ground game.

In the third period, Steinert drove from its own 39 where it had recovered a Ken Bullock fumble to the 10, where progress was halted by Strong's interception of a fourth-down Slafkovsky pass.

On the next play, Bullock was hit going through the line but managed to stay on his feet. He broke into the clear and raced downfield for a 90-yard romp. The extra-point kick was blocked but with 4:21 left in the quarter, it didn't seem important.

Turnovers Costly. Princeton, however, began to turn the ball over. A mangled pitchback from Thomas to Bullock was recovered by the Iron Mikes but they failed to capitalize. Early in the final period, Thomas, hiding the ball behind his hip, had it pulled from his hands and Steinert recovered on the PHS 37. This time, the Green and White went in as halfback John Chiarello went over from 25 yards out. Seagers stopped Chairello on an attempted two-point conversion run.

Not long after from the 15, where a Barry Turner punt had carried, the visitors got out of the hole in a hurry with a 59-yard pass-run from Slafkovsky to his favorite target, end Ron Maximow. Seven plays later, faced with a fourth down from the five, Slafkovsky scored on a sprint-out around end. Going for two, Slafkovsky tried another sprint-out around the same end. He fumbled as he crossed the goal line and despite vehement protests from Seagers and a host of PHS players, the official on the play ruled that it was good. Score: 14-13.

PHS still had 4:31 left. It couldn't move the ball, however, punted, held St. Anthony's and got one more shot before time ran out. "We had time to score; we just weren't able to get the ball over," said Beachell.

"The kids were definitely tired at the end," he added, "and they relaxed. They were able to give him (Slafkovsky) good protection and their passing game killed us." Slafkovsky rebounded from that poor first half to complete eight in 17 pass attempts for 142 yards.

Before the season started, Beachell had commented that because of a thin squad, many of his starters would have to play both ways. By the fourth quarter the fatigue factor would play a major role in determining how the Little Tigers would fare this season, he predicted.

Saturday's game proved that he is as good a seer as he is a coach.

LEADERS TIE, 7-7

Sibson Routs Hilton, 33-0. In games last week in the junior division of the Princeton Midget Football League, Peterson Construction and First National Bank, both previously undefeated, battled to a 7-7 tie, and Sibson routed Hilton Realty, 33-0.

In games Saturday morning at Grover Park, J.P. Cleaver will oppose First National Bank, starting at 9, and Peterson vs. Hilton will follow.

Willie Whittaker, Patrick Kellogg and Jeff Henkel led the Bank's strong ground game with Henkel scoring his team's touchdown on a three-yard run. Whittaker added the extra point.

Peterson tied it early in the second half on a 40-yard run by Paul Margolis and Kevin Phox's extra point run. The game was a defensive battle from then on with Chris Carrington, Will Reed and Michael Carnevale leading Peterson. Alan Drummond, John Hoff and Whittaker were defensive standouts for the Bank.

Eric Broadway scored on runs of 40, 11 and 25 yards during Sibson's easy win, while Stephen Fletcher and Pierre Erlwanger added single TDs. Defensively, Sibson was led by Brian Long, David Barclay, Fletcher and Erlwanger.

David Greenspan, Blair Spruill, Jeff Shangle, Hunter Allen, Tony Sullivan and Kim Wells played well for Hilton.

PIRATES BLANKED, 19-0

St. Anthony's Next Foe. The West Windsor football team dropped to the .500 mark last week when it was blanked by unbeaten Green Brook, 19-0.

The visitors controlled the game throughout as Karl Woener scored two touchdowns and rushed for 105 yards. The victory was Green Brook's sixth without a loss.

The Pirates (3-3) will next travel to St. Anthony's on Saturday for a contest at 11. St. Anthony's edged Princeton High School, 14-13, in its last outing to raise its record to 2-3-1.

NOT THIS TIME: Billy Martin, Mr. Offense for the Princeton Day School football team, is sandwiched between linebacker Ernie Barbiero and another Hun player for no gain in the final period. Martin gained 125 yards in 37 workhorse carries but PDS lost its finale, 12-6.

HUN TOPS PDS, 12-6

Pingry Final Home Game. The seven-game season of the Princeton Day School football team, one that had begun magnificently with five straight victories, ended with a whimper last week when the Panthers suffered their second 12-6 loss in a row to Hun School.

Two key pass interceptions by Hun's Tim Teel and some outstanding offensive and defensive play by Hun fullback Ernie Barbiero combined to blunt a game effort by PDS and its outstanding tailback, Billy Martin.

For PDS, the season is over. It is still in contention to repeat as the New Jersey Class B Prep School champion but Coach John Boneparth said that the outcome will depend on what other teams do in their remaining games. The championship is decided on a cumulative point basis.

Hun, 4-2, has two games left. Its next and final home game of the season will be held Saturday at 1:30 against Pingry.

Pingry is only 2-4 but Hun coach Dave Leete pointed out two of its setbacks have been a one-point loss to Blair and a three-point loss to Delbarton. "Pingry is a good football team," he said.

2 TDs in Final Minute. After Barbiero had burst up the middle from 28 yards out with 52 seconds left in the game to give Hun a 12-0 lead against visiting PDS, Martin on the ensuing kickoff took a reverse handoff from Steve Judge and outraced the Hun defenders down the sideline for an 80-yard return. Martin was stopped trying for the two-point conversion.

PDS then tried an on-side kick and was successful when Judge fell on the loose ball but time ran out for the Panthers. "To be competitive against them the way we were ... I think we played a helluva football game," said Boneparth after pointing out that PDS had only a 17-man squad while Hun with a larger student body also uses some post-graduates.

"Have you ever seen anyone better?" he asked after the game, referring to Martin. The 6-1, 190-pound tailback, who owns every offensive record at the school, rushed for 125 yards. His touchdown against Hun was his 14th of the season and 37th of his career. He had been averaging 160 yards a game this season.

Good as Martin was, he couldn't overcome a number of mistakes his teammates made. One nonplused onlooker who had not seen prep school ball for a number of years asked amid the profusion of fumbles and interceptions, "Do they always play this way?" There were 11 in all, but PDS was hurt the most when it lost the ball five times, three on pass interceptions.

"I thought we forced more mistakes but every mistake we made hurt us. Every time we got into scoring range, we made a mistake," said Boneparth.

He was echoed by Leete. "We had trouble moving the ball consistently, a couple of plays hurt us. We made a lot of mistakes."

Barbiero Praised. "I think Barbiero played a great game offensively and defensively," Leete added. He gained almost 100 yards (92 in 16 carries) and defensively he was all over the place." Leete also cited the defensive play of Teel and end Tom Sumners.

The first half was notable only for the number of times the ball changed hands, with PDS and Martin having a decided edge when Hun got its first real scoring opportunity. Quarterback Bill Baggitt's bullet pass was aimed right at Hun quarterback Nick Brady on the 29. Barbiero got a first down to the 17 and with 2:14 left, Brady hit Larry Gebert over the middle for the score. Barbiero's kick was wide.

Exhorted by Boneparth's "This is our last 24 minutes together as a team," PDS opened the second half with a sustained drive: Martin first down on the 31, Martin first down on the 20, Martin plus five to the 15. All went for naught as Teel picked off a Baggitt pass.

In the final period, PDS got going once more. Starting from its own 26, it drove downfield on carries by Martin, Rob Olsson and Mark Blaxill until on a crucial fourth-and-three, Martin gained a first down on the Hun 10, but two plays later Teel picked off another Baggitt pass and returned it to the 42.

Late in the game, PDS had to gamble on a fourth down pass with 2:07 remaining. Baggitt's pass to the sideline was high and Hun took over, setting up Barbiero's TD run.
